Mais Qui a inspiré Qui?

Horst W. Rittel

Here the aim is not to find the truth, but to improve some characteristics of the world where people live.

kuijro Nonaka

*We know more than we can tell.
We know more than we realize.*

Kield Schmidt

CSCW should be conceived of as an endeavor to understand the nature and requirements of cooperative work with the objective of designing computer-based technologies for cooperative work arrangements

Theodor Schatzki
Arrangement theorists are a group of thinkers who takes arrangement of entities to be the principal compositional feature of social life

Judith Buttler

When I was twelve, I was asked what I wanted to be when I grew up. I said that I either wanted to be a philosopher or a clown, and I understood then, I think, that much depended on whether or not I found the world worth philosophizing about, and what the price of seriousness might be.

François Rastier

L'objet empirique de la linguistique est fait de /textes/ oraux ou écrits, non de mots ou de phrases – qui ne s'observent pas à l'état isolé, et même quand on les isole, restent toujours relatifs à un genre et un discours

Jacques Arsac

L'informatique pose la question du sens. L'informatique traite l'information, la forme, elle ne connaît pas le sens.

L'artefact informatique ne fait que proposer des rapports, et ces derniers sont virtuels tant qu'une opération de réécriture ne les actualise pas

Marshall McLuhan

Any understanding of social and cultural change is impossible without a knowledge of the way media work as environments.

Lev Vygotsky

Toutes les fonctions supérieures trouvent leur origine dans les relations entre les êtres humains

François Varela

C'est l'image du poème de Machado qui dit qu'il n'y a pas de chemin et que le chemin se fait en marchant

Allen Newell

Amount of search is not a measure of the amount of intelligence being exhibited. What makes a problem a problem is not that a large amount of search is required for its solution, but that a large amount would be required if a requisite level of intelligence were not applied
